

Join thousands of students from industry-leading organizations who've learned proven best practices in cause and effect analysis during Sologic RCA training.

We've combined our team's extensive first-hand experience applying the Sologic method, with our clients' best practices and requests. As a result, Sologic training reflects a vast array of industries, disciplines, geographies and cultures, as well as diverse experiences ranging from major investigations, to recurring and systemic problems, to positive and proactive analyses.

By applying Sologic's state-of-the-art RCA method to real-world problems in the Participant class, you will gain the knowledge, tools, and confidence to contribute to successful root cause analyses and investigations. You will be able to help solve tough and recurring problems, and help proactively replicate successes.
