

The best way to realize a positive return on an investment in RCA training is to apply newly acquired knowledge and skills as soon as possible.

It's easy to become consumed with other tasks, thereby missing the best opportunity to apply RCA skills while the training is fresh in thought. But the opportunity should not be missed to achieve "quick hit" results by attacking problems that are already on people's plates, have been lingering, are expensive, or have been draining human resources.

A powerful way to gain confidence and strengthen new skills once RCA training is complete is to analyze real-life problems side-by-side with a Sologic instructor. After team members attend a two-day Sologic Analyst Level 1 - Facilitator course (or eRCA Fundamentals plus one-day on-site "Blended" course), a Sologic instructor will spend face-to-face time assisting up to 25 students with analyzing your organization's actual problems. Not only will students solidify their understanding and improve retention, they will immediately deliver improvements and savings after class. In most cases these savings more than pay for the class.

The Focused Facilitator session accelerates your progression along the RCA learning curve AND achieves an immediate positive ROI on your training investment.

Empower RCA Teams

- Demonstrate immediate payback on the training investment
- Demonstrate immediate results visible to the organization
- Raise facilitator confidence by assuring their first RCA is successful
- Better manage the complexities of facilitation
- Proficiently use Causelink[®] RCA software to visually depict cause and effect relationships, prepare a final RCA report, and analyze and share data
- Effectively communicate RCA findings, solutions and trends to a group unfamiliar with the details of the problem
- Help your organization save money and time, and achieve business goals

The Sologic RCA Method

- Universal, scalable, practical and intuitive for RCA novices and experts alike
- Logical, complete and accurate process and terminology that's aligned with how the world actually works
- Takes the focus away from non-specific causes, opinion, blame and punishment; shifts the focus to systemic causes, objectivity, collaboration and data
- Enables RCA facilitators and teams to more effectively and efficiently identify true causes and effective solutions
- Informs business decisions and supports achievement of business goals
- Based on extensive feedback from our clients as we work with them to build RCA programs that effectively solve and prevent real-world problems
- Client feedback loop consistently feeds continuous improvement of method and training

Class Details

- One eight-hour day of facilitation with up to 25 students
- Prerequisite for participating students: Sologic Analyst Level 1 - Facilitator course OR eRCA Fundamentals plus one-day on-site "Blended" course
- Available only as a private, client-site seminar